Special Two-Part Series

Supporting Educator & Student Resilience During Shelter in Place
Presenter/Facilitator: Ricky Robertson

The COVID 19 pandemic has disrupted schools across the nation and contributed to a general sense of uncertainty and anxiety. As we shelter in place, school is no longer the source of stability and connection that many of our students rely upon.

During this time, educators play a critical role in supporting the social-emotional well-being of their students. However, that responsibility carries with it considerable stress and emotional labor. In this two-part webinar series, we will explore important topics and tools to support ourselves, our colleagues, and our students.

Webinar 1 – Educator Resilience – Thursday, April 2, 3:45-5:15
In this webinar, we will explore ways to care for our well-being as we support others through this challenging time. Participants will learn strategies for self-care, bitesize resilience, and building supportive virtual communities for educators.

Webinar 2 – Student Resilience – Tuesday, April 7, 3:45-5:15
In this webinar, we will discuss ways to help students cope with the changes that have resulted from COVID 19. Participants will learn and share strategies to support students' social-emotional well-being during this challenging time.
